

Collaboratory

SCIENCE IN SOCIETY

Oct. 29, 2019, 5:30 - 7:30 pm - San Diego Supercomputer Center Auditorium

CONSCIENCE

Join us for an evening with Dr. Patricia Churchland (UC San Diego), author of Conscience, and Dr. Read Montague (Virginia Tech).

Why does Shakespeare have Hamlet say, 'There is nothing wrong nor right but thinking makes it so'? And why does Kant's gravestone enshrine his awe at 'the starry sky above me and the moral law within me'? And what did the recent New Yorker story mean by 'Silicon Valley's Crisis of Conscience'? How do we tell right from wrong?

Explore the answers to these and other questions about the reality of our inner Jiminy Cricket and the neurobiological roots of our moral beliefs at this Collaboratory conversational gathering on Conscience.

Register at: scienceinsociety.eventbrite.com

With Roger Bingham (Collaboratory Director). Sponsored by the Institute for Neural Computation (INC). Questions: Please contact Stephanie Corneil, scorneil@ucsd.edu.

Made possible by generous funding from the Legler Benbough Foundation (Peter Ellsworth); Koret Foundation (UC President Emeritus Richard C. Atkinson); Learning How To Learn (Dr. Terrence Sejnowski); UC San Diego Research Affairs (Dr. Sandra Brown) and Vice Chancellor of Health Sciences (Drs. David Brenner and Douglas Ziedonis); and Kavli Institute for Brain & Mind (KIBM - Dr. Nicholas Spitzer).

UC San Diego

Brain image and logo by Marley Rossa